

earlier formation

The image shows a map of the Pacific Ocean and surrounding landmasses. Two rounded rectangular boxes are superimposed on the map. The left box, labeled 'later formation', contains two blue arrows pointing towards the center of the box. The right box, labeled 'earlier formation', contains two red arrows pointing away from the center of the box. Dotted lines representing latitude and longitude are visible across the map.

later formation